Call to Ministry (max. 2000 characters)

I have felt called for a long time. After I was baptized in 1970, I found myself singing hymns and gospel songs I had heard sung in church and at home by my mother. My younger sister heard me and said, "God has something for you to do." A friend from my college baseball team used to call me "Preacher." The convincing event occurred while I was in training to become a deacon. I had been a member at First Baptist for over 11-years and had been involved singing with the men's choir, the men's fellowship, Bible Study, and Sunday School—even teaching Sunday School. But it was the course work for my church's diaconate that revealed a thirst to grow, know more, and do more. The ordination ceremony was very emotional and spiritual for me. I felt the Spirit of God in the sanctuary, and I what I had to do.

Within days I went in to talk with my Pastor about seminary. She told me she had been expecting me. Her revelation was further confirmation. We talked about the process, and she recommended Union Presbyterian Seminary. My seminary education has prepared me to do many things, including pastoral care, chaplaincy, teaching, and preaching. Yet, there is a drive within me to know more, to grow closer with God, and to share the goodness and good news of God's plans as enacted through Jesus.
