PATHWAYS TO LEARNING AND LEADERSHIP

What is it? Pathways to Learning and Leadership is a program of nine courses offered over a two-year period to provide educational preparation toward leading a congregation as a Commissioned Ruling Elder (check with your presbytery first), and six courses for church members who want to increase their knowledge and discipleship. Each course is five weeks long. Foundational courses (Phase I - for everyone) are taught entirely online, using live instruction, readings, and peer discussion. Practical ministry courses for CREs (Phase II-a) are taught online, with some practical exercises carried out in the local church. Electives for church members (Phase II-b) are taught entirely online. Participants will need about six (6) hours per week, including two hours at a specific time online, to complete the work.

Who is it for? People studying to be CREs will be joined by interested church members in learning together. Courses will be taught from a Reformed (Presbyterian) perspective, but are open to all.

Who will teach the courses? Most will be taught by faculty from Union Presbyterian Seminary. Some will be taught by experienced practitioners in their field.

How much does it cost? The cost per five week course is $100. In addition there will usually be one book to purchase per course.

Are there prerequisites to taking the courses? No. Anyone can participate.

Will I earn college credit for the courses? No. These courses do not earn academic credit.

When can I get started? Courses will be ongoing. We recommend that the foundational courses (Phase I) be taken first, but other courses may be taken in any order.

What kind of computer do I need? You will need a desktop or laptop computer, or a tablet or smart phone in order to participate. You must have a microphone; a webcam is recommended, but not required.

How do I register? Go to www.upsem.edu/pathways to register online, or contact Marilyn Johns at mjohns@upsem.edu with any questions.
